Re: James Lawlor

SETUP - ASSAULT ON
BT

In an effort to help you try to clear your desk of very old data, let me try to put a close to the file regarding Mr. Lawlor.

I had a recent discussion with the county prosecutor's office and was informed that Mr. Lawlor was, in fact, found guilty by a jury on August 3, 1990. As you know, this case has been involved in the judicial process for some time. Believe it or not, currently no sentencing information is available nor is any appeal information. Hopefully, this will be enough to let you close your files on this sad case.

However, should more information be required, you know where to find me.

Sincerely,

James W. Kay

Dear Jim:

I would not want you to forget me and, therefore, periodically I do follow-up on all of our files which are not completed.

I last talked to you on July 12, when you indicated that there still had been no final disposition of this matter.

We would like to have the outcome if it has now been completed, so we can close our files. This has been going on for over two years, and we would hope that the legal action would have been completed by this time.

I know the legal system sometimes does not move very fast, but I wondered if the trial really took place on February 26, 1990 as you indicated it should. I know postponements keep happening, but if it has been completed, we certainly would like the outcome.

I have to keep following up on all these situations, because we would like to close out each file, instead of having so many in an incomplete state.

Dear Paul:

Re: James Lawlor

This note is to reference your recent inquiry regarding the status of James Lawlor. While I had previously indicated an August 14 trial date, the situation was subjected to a series of postponements due to the ongoing psychiatric analysis of Mr. Lawlor. Most recently, we understood that a January date had been set. I now find in talking to the County Prosecutor's office that a February 26, 1990 trial date has been set for this action.

Please know that I will keep you apprised of any developments regarding this particular situation.

Dear Mr. Lawlor:

After careful review, we have decided that your registration with the Boy Scouts of America should not be accepted. We are therefore compelled to request that you sever all connections that you have with the Boy Scouts of America. A refund of your registration fee will be made.

You should understand that Boy Scout membership is a privilege and is not automatically granted to everyone who applies. We reserve the right to refuse registration whenever there is a concern that an individual may not meet the high standards of membership. It is our goal to provide for American youth.

If you wish to have this decision reviewed by a council review committee, please write to me within 60 days of the date of this letter explaining your version of the facts supporting your claim that your registration as a BSA member should be granted. The procedures for such a review are attached.

State inspectors to rate Neptune school district

By LINNEA SINCLAIR
Press Correspondent

NEPTUNE — The state is coming and the district will be ready, the Board of Education announced last night.

Assistant Superintendent of Schools William J. Moore said the monitoring of township schools will begin Nov. 18 by inspectors who will "pass judgment on the quality of our schools."

In a presentation that outlined one-year and five-year priorities as required by the state, school supervisors and coordinators distributed explanatory booklets and spoke about basic skills, attendance and parent participation.

Those areas, they said, would be looked at closely during the entire school year, as well as during the monitoring period, which will end Dec. 16.

General Supervisor Barbara Longo said Monmouth County has already verbally approved the district's educational priorities, which include implementing a districtwide Basic Skills Improvement Plan, monitoring and evaluating new report card and student attendance procedures and implementing a new staff development plan for the 1988-89 school year.

In the area of test scores, teacher-programmer Rae Ann Kitson explained a recent drop in scores on a new test, the California Achievement Test, required by the state. She said it is a "natural phenomenon" that happens when a new and different test is introduced and that scores take a while to stabilize.

The outlook on the High School Proficiency Test was brighter. Quoting from a 28-page booklet she distributed to the audience, she said that 92.2 percent of ninth-graders passed in reading, 75 percent passed in the mathematics section and 79.2 percent in the writing section.

All scores were an improvement over last year's tests, and she said she hoped to see continued improvement.

Richard Springer, coordinator with the Gables School, distributed a pamphlet on the district's five-year attendance improvement plan.

The most crucial area, according to Springer, was to determine whether students develop poor attendance habits at early ages. He proposed a plan for dealing with the issue at the elementary school level.

Moore said the district also would be paying special attention to kindergarten and pre-kindergarten programs. "It's important to strengthen those first couple of years in school," he said, as that's where students learn a positive approach to education.

"We'll be helping the child learn to learn," said board member Blanche Jones.

In related business, the board passed a proposal that would set tougher guidelines for student athletes to maintain required academic levels.

Board members Kevin Stansbury, Ms. Jones and Evelyn Johnson voted against the proposal, but not, according to Stansbury, because they disagreed with its contents.

In a telephone interview after the meeting, Stansbury said the board had not provided the members with enough information about the proposal to make a decision. He said he learned of the proposal an hour before last night's meeting and he questioned an informational survey that was referred to but not included.

Assistant Athletic Director Bob Lampiren said he would provide Stansbury with a copy of the report.

Boy Scout leader loses license after charge of sexual assault

By ELAINE SILVESTRINI
Press Coastal Monmouth Bureau

OCEAN TOWNSHIP — The Monmouth Council, Boy Scouts of America, yesterday revoked the leader's registration of an Ocean Township High School English teacher who was charged with sexually assaulting a teen-age boy on camping trips, officials said.

James Lawlor, 45, is free after posting $35,000 bail. He was arrested Friday and charged with aggravated sexual assault and endangering the welfare of a minor, according to Monmouth County Prosecutor John Kaye and Ocean Township Police Detective Sgt. Kevin Quinn.

Lawlor, of Stratton Place in the New Monmouth section of Middletown Township, was suspended with pay from his teaching position effective Monday by Ocean Township Superintendent of Schools Robert Mahon, who said his decision was affirmed by the Board of Education Tuesday night. Mahon refused to comment further.

Authorities would not disclose the boy's exact age.

Officials said the boy in question was an Ocean Township High School student who went on Explorer Post camping trips with Lawlor.

James W. Kay, council executive for the Monmouth Boy Scouts, said the scouts will provide counseling to those boys in the Explorer Post who need it.

Kay refused to discuss the situation except to say that Lawlor's registration was revoked yesterday morning. Kay said the Explorers are the high school-age program of the Boy Scouts.

Kaye, the prosecutor, said authorities believe the boy was assaulted several times while on camping trips in Berryville, N.Y., Milford, Pa., and Stokes State Forest, Pa.

Another incident took place during a camping trip in Monmouth County, according to Kaye and Quinn, who said they were not sure where that trip was.

Quinn said the incidents are believed to have happened over the last year or so.

Kaye said his office would present the case to a Monmouth County grand jury in the next six or eight weeks.
